“ I have never met a more positive person than Alex. She always had a smile on her face! She was a beautiful girl inside and out. I will never forget when her and I were on our way to one of our home games. We talked the whole way there about how much we loved life and our family and friends. I told her how thankful I was that she convinced me to cheer this year. If she wouldnt have convinced me to cheer I would have never gotten the opporitunity to really see how amazing she was. She had it all but was always humble about it. My heart goes out to her family and to Andrew. I know that none of this is going to be easy but just know that you guys have so many people who are here for you. You have so many people who love and care about Alex. She was a special person and none of us will forget that. In my heart I know that she is in a better place but I wish I had more time with her. But now God has another angle at his side. I cherish those special moments I had with her. I love you Alex, R.I.P.##imported-begin##Mikayla Moretti##imported-end##

“ You were always the girl that made everyone smile. We weren't that close, but we had some great times in Food & Nutrition. You were like a mother to us. You always made sure we did what we needed to do. I just cannot believe you are gone. My mom came into my room this morning and told me you died in an accident and I honestly thought I was dreaming. I wish this was just a dream (well nightmare) and you would be back with your smiling face tomorrow in school. Knoch High School will never be the same without you. Your death impacted people who have never ever met you before. You were truly amazing. You will never ever be forgotten. “ I didn't get the chance to know Alexis very well, but she was in my senior gym class back in 2009. I remember all the girls changing in the locker room one day and I said to Alex, "Ya know, you really look like Miley Cyrus." She smiled and laughed and said "Yeah, I get that alot." She was absolutely gorgeous and that smile of hers was stunning. And I know alot of people are missing her right now. I drive that road every Tues and Wed for clinical at Concordia and before I knew where the accident had taken place, I just had a feeling it was Hannastown road. And I saw it after coming home from clinical today. Everytime I drive past there I'm going to think of her. <3

“ I am a friend to someone that apparently knew Alexis. I know the pain you all must be going through right now I lost my 14 year old son last year. The pain is so hard at times, but knowing the promise God made gives me strength to go on. Here is a poem I wrote I hope you like it

Never Really Gone

Somewhere in this vast world, is someone once loved.

Someone really never erased from our hearts and mind.

Although gone from sight and touch, lives on in a son, a place and our memories.

We feel their presence, as the soft breeze passes across our cheeks,

We smell them in the fragrance of flowers in the field.

We hear them speak to us in the gentleness of a song.

So as long as the breeze blows,

The flowers bloom,

And songs are sung,

They will continue with us,

Never Really Gone.

By Robin Ament Bartel

*May the strength of God and the power for healing that he imparts be with your family now and in the coming days.##imported-

“ Dear Tammy and Brian,
No words can begin to express the heart ache I feel for you and your family. Alexis was such a beautiful young lady. I didn't know her other than to pass her in the halls at church, but I did know the deep love and pride you had for her. I was reminded of a conversation I shared with Tammy about our families...kids in particular and she glowed as she spoke of them. I pray and will continue to pray that you can take some comfort in knowing where she is and that she is safe, happy and smiling in the arms of Jesus. There is a party in heaven today because one of Gods children has come home..for eternity. It certainly doesn't erase the deep feeling of loss and heart ache we feel right now, but I pray it brings you peace as you mour. You will see your lovely, prescious daughter again soon (even 100 years is but a blink when we're talking eternity). My love and prayer to your whole family and all of Alexis's friends.

“ To Alexis's Mom and Dad,
Even though we have not met and I did not have the privilege of knowing Alex directly, I want to take this time to share with you something special...My daughter is a freshman cheerleader and had the opportunity to be blessed by Alex...in a short time, Alex touched Hannah's life; she admires and looks up to her and hopes to be as kind and thoughtful as Alex. I can not explain or understand myself as a mother and teacher, but please know that your daughter meant the world to my daughter! I thank you for for your beautiful daughter and the impact she had on my daughter. All of you are in my thoughts and prayers. Alex's death has had an impact on my life as well...life is too precious not to embrace it and our loved one's and above all, to do God's Will! I am hoping there will be peace for you all with this sometime, but for now, know that you are in my thoughts, prayers and we honored Alexis' wishes to aide in the support of newlife Christian ministries as requested. I think the world of all of you and pray for healing and maybe even some kind of understanding in the acceptance of the loss of your daughter. Understanding is a lot to hope for in a thing like this, but I want it for all of you regardless. Please accept my deepest regrets and know that you have many friends who go through this with you. “ A few years ago my family and I had lost a loved one a young age and this was left on his guest page and I thought I would share it with all of you <3

*To my dearest family, some things I'd like to say... but first of all, to let you know, that I arrived okay.
I'm writing this from heaven. Here I dwell with God above.
Here, there's no more tears of sadness; here is just eternal love.*

*Please do not be unhappy just because I'm out of sight.
Remember that I'm with you every morning, noon and night.
That day I had to leave you when my life on earth was through,
God picked me up and hugged me and He said, "I welcome you."*

It's good to have you back again; you were missed while you were gone.

*As for your dearest family, they'll be here later on.
I need you here badly; you're part of my plan.
There's so much that we have to do, to help our mortal man."*

*God gave me a list of things, that he wished for me to do.
And foremost on the list, was to watch and care for you.
And when you lie in bed at night, the day's chores put to flight.
God and I are closest to you....in the middle of the night.*

*When you think of my life on earth, and all those loving years because you are only human, they are bound to bring you tears.
But do not be afraid to cry; it does relieve the pain.
Remember there would be no flowers, unless there was some rain.*

*I wish that I could tell you all that God has planned.
But if I were to tell you, you wouldn't understand.
But one thing is for certain, though my life on earth is o'er.
I'm closer to you now, than I ever was before.*

*There are many rocky roads ahead of you and many hills to climb;
but together we can do it by taking one day at a time.
It was always my philosophy and I'd like it for you too... that as you give unto the world, the world will give to you.*

*If you can help somebody who's in sorrow and pain, then you can say to God at night....."My day was not in vain."
And now I am contented....that my life has been worthwhile, knowing as I passed along the way, I made somebody smile.*

*So if you meet somebody who is sad and feeling low,
just lend a hand to pick him up, as on your way you go.
When you're walking down the street, and you've got me on your mind;
I'm walking in your footsteps only half a step behind.##imported-
