“ To: Max's Family
I was so sorry to read about your loss. I knew that she had not been well for some time, but I did not know about the death of your husband and father. You have my belated condolences. I know that "Biddy" as he was called by the family, was his parents pride and joy.
Max was so much fun as I was growing up. I looked forward to seeing my "big" cousin when we would make the trip to Worthington. I cannot remember her without a smile that would light up a room.
Again you have my deepest condolences on your loss.
Sincerely,
Shirley Fennell Shackelford###imported-begin##Shirley Shackelford###imported-end##
