

Harry S. Firaben

November 17, 2006

Harry S. Firaben, 73, of Portersville, PA, formerly of Pittsburgh, died Friday, November 17, 2006 at his residence.

He was born November 19, 1932 in Pittsburgh, the son of the late Harry Firaben and Irene Mallory Firaben.

He was a US Army veteran. He belonged to the Fireman's Union and the VFW in Pymatuming. He was a retired fireman from the City of Pittsburgh.

Surviving are 3 sisters, Agnes Lorden of West Mifflin, Mrs. John (Joann) Marchese of Brighton Heights and Mrs. David (Lois) Werner of Rockwood (Somerset Co.); 1 brother and his wife, Thomas and Diane Firaben of Ellwood City; and a number of nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by 2 sisters and 3 brothers.

Private service and burial.

Arrangments by Young Funeral Home, Butler, PA

Tribute Wall

“ We will miss Harry. I've (Don) known Harry over 60 years and always enjoyed his company. We have known Harry together for over 25 years. When we (the old school gang) got together we all had him sing Johnny Ray's "Cry" and we all sang "That Old Gang of Mine". Perhaps somewhere again we can sing that song again. God speed Harry.##imported-begin##Don & Pat Rosenberger##imported-end##

November 17, 2006 at 12:00 AM