“ Johnny, Jennifer and Jason, Words cannot even express the heartfelt sorrow of your dad's passing. I often ask myself why the good ones always have to go. Your dad was so determined to not let the surgeries and aches and pains get the best of him, just as we were with your mom. We will miss him greatly but rejoice as well for his reunion with your mom. I loved them both as family and I will never forget all the great times we got to share with them. I will always continue to be there for you guys and know that I love you all and always have you's in my prayers always....Love Pete & Tricia, Misty, Crystal and Gabriel##imported-begin##Peter and Tricia##imported-end##

“ Dear John, Jennifer, & Jason: It was with a deeply saddened heart that I learned of the sudden death of your Father. And I am sorry I will not be there to join in with all who loved him. I enjoyed so much his calls and hearing about his love and concern for all of you; and also his visit with me earlier this year. His sense of humor (he really liked to kid me about being the older one--only by 3 months!!) will always be remembered as I'm sure it will be with all whose lives he has touched. In lieu of flowers, I will have masses said for both him and your Mother. (He always asked me to say a prayer at mass for him). My thoughts and prayers are with you. And may God's love give you strenght.
Love, Jennifer##imported-begin##Jennifer McGarvey##imported-end##

“ John Jr., Jason and Jennifer: Our thoughts and prayers are with all of you now during this loss of your Dad. His calls to me will be missed more than you will ever know. He loved to reminisce of the times when we were growing up as cousins and we would talk endlessly of our high school years together and our classmates. He will live on in our hearts forever. Love, Sharon and Dennis##imported-begin##Sharon and Dennis Vaccaro##imported-end##
