“ I met and had many conversations with Richard while he attended many visits at the Wound Center. Most were concerning our mutual love for going to our respective camps along with hunting. However the funniest story he'd told me wasn't about either. He said in his youth he had a dirt bike and one time he was on it and tried to impress some girls with his riding skills. Laughingly he said he'd wrecked it badly in front of them. May God accept him into heaven. With my heartfelt sympathy, Joe Kochik

*Thank you for sharing! He did love telling about his youthful escapades on his bike 😊 He told me he met some wonderful people at the wound center ~ I'm sure he was thinking of you.
