“ Trish, I light this candle in the remembrance of your smile and laughter. I remember when you started at the Bulter VA, and how your co-workers were instantly drawn to you. Your spirit was filled with radiance, love, hope and joy and that is what still lives on. You could always get me with a joke or two and bring laughter into my day which is a gift. I will treasure those moments that we shared. To your family I pray that in time you will be able to find comfort and peace in knowing that Trish touched so many lives and shared her many gifts with everyone that she knew. God Bless you with strength in the days to come and always.

Keep us smiling and laughing from above Trish!!

“ Gone Too Soon

*Nothing fully prepares us
For the passing of someone dear
The news comes like a piercing sound
Foreign to the ear*

*Even if we were forewarned
Of what was to occur
It doesn't ease the pain
It doesn't quell the hurt*

*Sometimes it blindsides us
Nothing we would expect
It shakes us and it breaks us
We've no chance to object*

*We're left reeling from the shock
Staggering from the sting
Trying to make sense
Of all that's happening*

*Wondering how we'll make it
Without their presence near Questioning how we'll go on Through the ache and through the fear*

*Knowing somehow we must proceed
But still not sure quite how
Going through the motions
Is how we function now*

*One second, hour, day at a time
That's how you make it through
You say, "I can't ever see How I will make it without you?"*

*“But, this one thing I have
That no one can tear apart
Is the memory I hold of you
Close within my heart.”*

*So, with memories so precious
We go forward day by day
Honoring the one we love
In a special way*

*Their presence will be missed
Their absence has left a void
But their deposit into our lives
Has left an undeniable joy*

*And as we live each day
Holding the gift of them in our hearts
We honor their very essence
A love that won't depart*

I am praying for all of Trish's family and friends. She will be deeply missed by many.
